We Remember

I was sitting in my office
When I heard a sudden sound,
Trapped high inside this building
As it came crashing down.

It only took a moment
For the roof to hit the floor;
Terrified, I screamed for help,
But I could not find the door.

I never got to say "Goodbye"
Or that one last "I love you."
My time was quickly running out
With so much left to do.

Surrounded by debris and ash
And forced to accept my fate
I prayed my country would stand tall
To fight against this hate.

Helen Ziniti '02

The sound that freedom makes is but a cry of subtle joy; what precious hours style from bonded state is no more than a try in vain to mock what minutes can compile in liberation – songs that warble clear our cause in eagles' descant calls above our land; and poetry whose words endear all to the vastness of the sky; and love, that tender tendril fruit of freedom's strain,
which grows within the core of all who move toward freedom's movement: bonds cannot contain what man, in his salvation, now must prove.
With careful culling from what freedom sows, we'll find that source from which what's flawless flows.

Senior Class Officers

Sean McCabe, Vice President; Jacqueline Lewis, Secretary; Trevor Farrell, President; Drew Russo, Treasurer

To the entire Class of 2002,

We are truly an amazing class. If you went through the introduction to any yearbook, you would probably find practically the same words of praise, but when I write them, it's heartening to know that I am being completely sincere. We have accomplished so much and we have been through even more. Soon, these last days, months, and years will be mere memories. It's hard to believe that we won't be here anymore, that we won't be together anymore; yet, these memories will hold us together. Our friendships will help us remember how much fun we had and remind us how much we miss everything that makes up the Weymouth schools: the faculty, the staff, the dances, the performances, the games, even the lunches and tests--along with so much more. It is now our turn to say good-bye. But, more importantly, it is now our turn to be proud. We have earned this and we all deserve recognition. This is always a time of uncertaintly and I would honestly like to wish all of you the best of luck and courage. Thank you for making our senior year what it was and never lose sight of what we were, a truly amazing class.

Sincerely,

Your President,
Trevor Farrell

Choir

he Concert Choir is the major choral ensemble at Veymouth High School. This year, the Concert Choir had lans to perform at the Winter and Spring Arts Night and oices in the Night. The choir boasts eighty-three members nd is growing strong! The choir hopes to sing at as many ommunity events as possible. Their repertoire includes roadway, gospel, classical, folk and popular music. The horal program is under the new direction of Ms. Ellen rown. The Jazz Choir meets everyday and performs at ost of the Concert Choir venues. A smaller group, this nsemble focuses on swing-jazz , pop and Broadway styles. field trip to a show in Boston was alsoplanned for this ear.

The 9/11 candlelight vigil.

The Weymouth High School Band Program had yet another successful year. With "Channel One Suite" by Bill Reddie as their music, the Weymouth Wildcat Marching Band participated in many band festivals and competitions, including their own on September 22. The Wild Band competed in Division III of NESBA (New England Scholastic Band Association) against bigger bands from New Bedford and Westbrook, Maine. Despite these obstacles, the band had its most successful season ever, ending the season with a gold medal. In addition to NESBA shows, the band participated in MICCA shows, UMass Band Day, home and Thanksgiving Day football games, town parades, and the Quincy and Taunton Holiday parades, all of which were wonderful as well. The jazz band also had a great year, playing at the school concerts and at the Berklee Jazz Fest in Boston, the highlight of their year, . They continued to grow as a band, doing better than they had last year. Another group that continued to grow and improve was the percussion ensemble. In its second season, and with more members, they continued to aim at the illusive platinum medal at NESBA competitions. Even though they didn't reach that goal, they did receive higher scores than last year and had a lot of fun doing so. It's been a busy and commendable year for the band program and next year is sure to be even better! GO WILD BAND!

l main characteristic that defined this ıp of young men was their serious mitment to the values of teamwork, ıusiasm, and effort. The team showed ıt strength of character throughout the on as they practiced and played with imum effort from week to week. Two ıe many highlights of the season were exciting victories over Framingham Milton. Another was preserving a ling, last-minute win over Brookline ugh the great determination and focus vn by the team. The Thanksgiving ıe was truly reflective of the character his season's team, as Weymouth played ı exceptional effort and determination sing a close, well-played game to by Becky Aldoupolis, Joanna ford, and Suzanne Walsh, the Girls' er Team enjoyed a very successful season. The team finished with an all record of 13-3-6. Included in that was an undefeated league record of 6. This enabled the team to win the y Division title of the Bay State ue. Among the highlights of the on were convincing victories over lham and defending champion ton North, and a decisive 3-0 nament victory over Natick. Also, Weymouth girls were chosen to play is past fall's All-Star game. Joining hree captains were junior Erica phy and freshman standout Catie lan. Both Catie (league MVP) and na Stanford were selected to the first of the Bay State League.

"Fight for it Meg! You're looking tough!"

"Danielle, she's gaining on you! Run; go for the goal!"

Rebecca Aldoupolis

Thanks for an awesome season and so many great times and memories. I can't believe we came in in first place!! Good luck next year. I'm going to miss yougirls!!

Led by senior Tri-Captains, Drew Russo, Charlie Robinson, and David Blackham, the Girls' Soccer Team ranked first in Massachusetts and New England and ninth in the USA Top 20. Seniors Tom Taylor, Brad Della Iacono, Justin Campbell, Jeff Russo, Derek Taylor, Ricky Kelley, Mike Quinn, and Bryon Livingston contributed to the total team effort and the unusually good chemistry on the team. The team achieved a league record of 11-0-1, celebrated a league championship with the Girls' Soccer Team, and had an overall record of 21-1-1. Drew Russo was named league MVP and was joined by Derek Taylor and Mike Quinn on the BSL All-Star Team, while Dave Blackham, Charlie Robinson, B.J. McFarland, and Jeff Russo were selected to the Second Team. Seeded #1 in the South Sectional Tournament, the team defeated Stoughton 5-0 and Falmouth 1-0 before losing to B.C. The team is off to a good start.

"Hey, I thought there were three Charlie's Angels!"

" Go for the gold!"

Probably the most surprising team with fall was the Girls' Cross Country Team. Led by Tri-Captains Mary McCaffrey, Kelly Connolly and Catie Markesich, the team finished 9-3 in dual meets, third at the Catholic Memorial Invitational, and tenth in the Eastern Mass Division Championships. Mary McCaffrey, a strong runner and leader, will be the only runner lost to graduation. Coach Duke looks to build next season's team around Kelly Connolly and Catie Markesich, along with proven runners Becca McDonald, Michelle Fazer, Melisa DeMita, Amy Connolly, Frances Devine, Kimberly Tse, and Kerry Hansen.

"Don't forget to breathe!"

"Where is everyone?"

Mary McCaffrey

"Girls, we had an incredible season. Love you guys and good luck next year. Just remember one thing: 'The power is yours!' -Our hero."

Catherine Markesich

"We had an incredible season despite the loss of a significant part of our team. I am so proud of all of you! I want to thank you and the boys' team for all of your support. You are all incredible. Good luck next year to Mary, Matt, Chris, Brian, Trevor, Charlie, Lee and Mike, I 'll miss you all so much. "

ey Co-captains Matt Kelly and Brian ips, the Weymouth Boys' Cross Country ea completed a very successful season with erall record of 8-4 and a Bay State League cd of 8-3.. Kelly, Phillips, Trevor Farrell, Chris Davidson consistently finished as ep four runners in each meet. They will be y missed by Coach Souke as he attempts build next year. Other seniors who ibuted to this year's campaign included eeves, Mike Kelly, and Charlie Busa. n Souke will look to sophomores Mike hue, J.J. Prior, Mike Clark, Brendan ard and Rick Mandeville to step up next l! After losing the first meet to Newton, the cat runners put together an impressive g of victories over Walpole, Dedham, esley, Milton, Needham, and Framingham e falling to Braintree and Natick, but they l their best for last, defeating Norwood Brookline in the finals.

Running to the finish line.

Boys' Basketball Team had a disapting season, finishing with a 3-17
rd. Despite consistent effort all on, the team found the competition in Bay State League to be extremely
h. Seven of their losses, however, e by less than 10 points. Highlights of season were the defeat of a tough pole team and significant victories Dedham and Wellesley. In addition, tain Mike Eaton was chosen a Bay e League All-Star. A strong unit of rning juniors, including Josh Quinn,
Moore, Mike Murphy, Scott Winrow, Joe Donahue, along with the homores who will be stepping up to

The Student Senate, advised by Ms. Melinda Mahar, comprises the most dedicated leaders of WHS/VTHS. This student committee makes decisions on what changes would benefit the student body and improve the environment of the building as a whole. Actively participating in the Team Harmony convention, this club also sponsors the Spring Fling, the most highly-attended dance of the year, and a yearly Toys for Tykes fundraiser.

The Weymouth High Sch chapter of the National H Society comprises forty stu dents dedicated to scholast achievement, community service, and character. Thi year the group, under the guidance of Mr. George Ghiorse, aided in two Red Cross blood drives at the school; ran a Thanksgiving food drive, a winter coat d and a Halloween fundraise for UNICEF; and worked several other large-scale co- munity projects. On a mo individual basis, as the stu- dents worked within the community, they not only helped others, but also lear more about themselves in t process.

The Reflector

Working in homage to WHS/ VTHS's stylish and high-quality literary magazine of the '60s and '70s, the Reflector 2002 staff gathered poems, short fiction, essays, photography, and artwork from the multi-talented and diverse body of students here at the high school. The literary magazine, whose new name is borrowed from the WHS magazines of old, was led for the second year in a row by Ms. Stephanie Young-Blackman and a core of dedicated editors.

Words Not Weapons is a school-sponsored anti-violence organization advised by Mrs. Judith Corbett and Mr. Brad Lawson. The group's "Paws for Peace" campaign involves students from all grades. In mid-September, members of Words Not Weapons joined together to produce red, white, and blue ribbons and collect donations for the "Ribbons for Relief Fund" to send to New York City following the attack on the World Trade Center. In early December, the group members were trained in methods of developing respectful and non-violent behavior among students. Through their activities and actions, the students of Words Not Weapons worked together throughout the 2001-2002 year to create harmony in the high school community.

The National History D Team consists of over twenty-five students wh committed themselves t an extremely intense research project that was judged by professional historians and professors against those of students from fifteen to twenty regional schools. "Revolutions in History" was the topic for the 2001-2002 school year, and many of the student advised by Mr. Murphy, are returning from last year's successful competition held at Bridgewater State Colleg

Speech and Debate

Last year, the Speech and Debate Team came off a very successful season in which several students qualified for the state competitions. This year, the team featured a group of veteran Lincoln-Douglas style debators and speech competitors. This year-long activity gave the students ample opportunity to excel in matches around the area. The team is advised by Mr. Michael Murphy

Jennifer McNaught, Erin Ryan, Rebecca Curran

Senior Committee

e 2001-2002 Senior mmittee was a group of remely concerned dents who wished to e a hand in what was nned for their last year high school. These dents made decisions h as what to pay for es, how much to fund- e, and what to serve at prom, just to mention w. It took a numental effort on the t of the senior class cers in conjunction h the members of the ior Committee, who unteered their time and rt to make a successful ior year. They were y the backbone of the s.

Front row: Jessica Mosey, Frances Devine, Blanche Terjelian Second row: Jamie Callaghan, Elizabeth Mazzilli, Brittany Andrews, Samantha Lynch Third row: Lilla Fazier, Kerry Gould, Sarah Keegan, Mrs. Kathleen Lavery Fourth row: Jennifer Corey, Amanda Kendall

FCCLA is a national student organization with state associations as well as activities for state and national participation. Local chapters focus on areas of interest and concern to their members. Using skills acquired in Family and Consumer Science courses, students develop projects related to family, future careers, or community service. The Weymouth chapter, advised by Mrs. Kathleen Lavery, has been in existence since 1975 and boasts several state and national presidents over the years.

Front row: Stephanie Dunn, Kristen Walsh, Helen Ziniti, Joanne Leggatt, Jennifer Corey Second row: Noelle Neumyer, Jessica Mosey, Samantha Lynch, Katrina Castagnozzi, Rebecca Rosen, Cynthia Steinkrauss, Nancy Rosen Third row: William Candler, Sydney Wesolowski, Mrs. Peri-Ann Reilly, Katy Shea, Jaclyn Feldman, Joseph Goduti

Students from all grades looking to become actively involved in the community really took to SADD this year. SADD, which stands for Students Against Destructive Decisions, is a program through which students from the high school work to help others, not only within the school, but also in the community at large. SADD members this year took part in many activities, including Red Ribbon Week, the mock car crash prior to the Senior Prom, as well as fundraisers such as the Halloween candygram sale. The group led by advisor Mrs. Peri-Ann Reilly, banded together to help students develop an awareness of the consequences of making destructive decisions.

PawPrints

WHS/VTHS's own monthly newspaper, PawPrints, will have three years under its belt with the completion of the 2001-2002 school year. Catering to a variety of student tastes, the PawPrints staff worked all year to put together issues containing CD reviews, feature articles, artwork, fashion updates, and workout tips, all submitted by the students of the high school. Advised by Ms. Stephanie Young-Blackman, the Paw Prints staff made certain that there was something for everyone in each issue of the newspaper.

The 2002 Weymouth High School yearbook, If These Walls Could Talk, was produced both by students in a new Yearbook Production class and by student volunteers after school. Carrying the theme throughout each section of the book, the yearbook committee worked to capture the faces and places of the Class of 2002, the sports, clubs, and activities of both underclassmen and seniors, and the array of school events, dances, and pep rallies that students and staff took part in over the course of the 2001-2002 school year. The directing forces behind the Walls, Ms. Jacqueline Deane and Mrs. Anne Bliven, taught students digital imaging techniques and graphic, word processing, and design programs on both Mac and PC. The entire staff of the yearbook used their diverse creative talents to make a book for all to remember.

The WHS/VTHS chapter of Tomorrow's Teachers had its second year in 2001/2002 . Advised by Mrs. Judith Corbett and Ms. Jennifer Curtis-Whipple, the club is composed of students interested in making their careers in education. The students participate in events like "Read Across America" and a state-wide conference of Tomorrow's Teachers chapter members from various high schools in Massachusetts. In addition to learning techniques of education and other important skills, these dedicated students compete for scholarships to many competitive colleges across the state.

The Rotary Interact Club is the high school liaison to the Rotary Club of Weymouth. The club, directed by Mr. Matthew Porro and dedicated to community service, is composed of many conscientious students. The year's club, the largest to date, includes more than 40 students! The club hit the ground running, beginning the year by helping out at the Weymouth Pancake Breakfast for the DARE programs. The school year promises many worthwhile activities, including trips to Father Bill's Soup Kitchen and involvement in the Big Brother/Big Sister program.

Academic Decathlon

Academic Decathlon is a scholastic activity open to students of all grades and academic backgrounds. The team, coached by Mrs. Bonnie Miller, meets twice a week after school to study and review material from ten different subjects. Twice a year, in November and March, the AcaDec team meets at Sharon High School and Wellesley High School, respectively, for the Regional and State Competitions. Weymouth, which constantly boasts the loudest and most-spirited members, cheers its team to victory year after year.

This year's Film Club, advised by Mr. John Pappas and Mr. Matthew Porro, continued its tradition of diverse, sometimes heated, but always entertaining discussions on both modern and classic films and the ways in which they mirror society. Members met every other Monday to view such movies as Waiting for Guffman, Memento, Welcome to the Dollhouse, and State and Maine, and to survey students' and advisors' reactions to each presentation, discuss such elements as scene progression, examine media's draw on society, and analyze film's connections to and place within their lives. An enriching time was certainly had by all those who ventured into Room 215 to take part in Film Club.

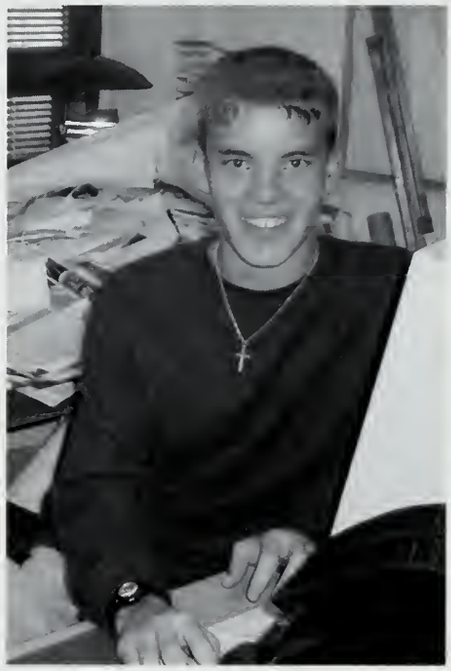
Architectural/Structural Drafting (CAD)

"The CAD class was very interesting and we learned a lot in this class."
-Peter Caron, Pat Joyce, and John Ryan



The Architectural Drafting Program prepares students to enter the world of residential and commercial design. The students learn the design process from schematic drawings for client presentation through final construction documents using AutoCad, a computer software program used by 85% of architectural community. Architectural and pre-engineering students also participate in community service projects, both to broaden skills and to serve the town.

Automotive Technology

Automotive Tecnology students are trained in the latest procedures on the most current equipment used in the industry today. They learn to make necessary repairs in both the mechanical and electrical systems of automobiles. After taking Automotive Technology, they will possess the basic skills needed to have a successful career in the automotive repair industry.

"Auto shop is where minds and hands combine with skill and pride."
-Class members

Child Care

" I like Child Care. I like to work with kids, but it gets to be a lot of hard work because you have to watch them every time they do something. I have been taking this class since I was in eighth grade, so I know a lot about children, and I love to work with them."

-Jessica Rodriguez

Child Care is a course that helps students prepare for their future roles as parents, while teaching the basic skills needed to care for a child properly. Each student is assigned to a child and cares for him or her under the supervision of four staff members.

Construction Technology

Under the guidance of Mr. John Campagnone, Mr. Joseph Canova, and Mr. Paul Dewing, freshman and sophomores begin building sheds, cabinets, and small pieces of furniture. As juniors and seniors, they are assigned an off-site project. This year they are building a three-story addition, with four rooms and one bath. Once they complete Construction Technology I-III, students will have the skill and knowledge needed to be general contractors. Sixty percent of Carpentry students are self-employed within the first ten years of completing the classes. This year some former Construction Technology students are working on the Big Dig.

"Even though we learned a lot, we still have quite a bit to learn."
- Mike Powers

Cosmetology

" There are no short cuts in life."
- Cosmetology students

The cosmetology industry is one of the fastest growing and most exciting career fields in the job market today. Training in the Weymouth Cosmetology Program includes safety procedures in all areas of hair design, skin care, and basic hair styling techniques. After completing 1,000 hours of successful training and a licensing exam, students qualify to register with the Massachusetts State Board of Cosmetology. In addition, students are required to complete a competency -based vocational education (C.B.V.E) portfolio, which they begin in their junior year. Specialized training in any aspect of cosmetology will afford even greater opportunities to willing and motivated individuals .

Electronics & Computer Technology

The Electronics and Computer Technology Program provides training for students in many areas of electronics, from the basics through computer circuits. Students learn to use various types of test instruments and work on a wide variety of electronic equipment. Students then learn computer assembly, setup, diagnostics, repair, and networking. They also receive training in A+ certification.

Graphic Arts

"In the four years we have been in Graphic Arts, we have learned the four methods of printing. We have also learned how to do layout for a variety of jobs. Mr. Roach has taught us the skills we will need to be successful in the graphic arts trade."
- Adam Curren, Ted Sapienza, Krista Gaziano

The Graphic Arts Department plays a very important role in Weymouth. It is in charge of a large portion of the printing done for both the Weymouth Public Schools and the Health Department. Graphic Arts is full-production and student work can be seen in the varied t-shirts and paper products sold at the school store. Most small assignments are done in one day, but major projects take longer. The Program of Studies is the most important project of the year. This job entails producing 3,500 booklets of 90 pages each. Since the Graphic Arts Department charges only for the cost os supplies, it can get the jobs done expeditiously and affordably.

Sheet Metal/AC

The Sheet Metal Program in the vocational school is designed to prepare students for future opportunities in all areas of the trade. In the Sheet Metal Program, students learn how to work with the machinery and equipment that is used in the field. One component of the program, welding, teaches operations such as oxy-acetylene burning, heli-arc, and M.I.G. welding. Students also learn about the installation and maintenance of air conditioning systems.

" I've been a member of the Sheet Metal class for four years. Someday I'd like to get a job in this trade. During my time here I've made good friends and learned a lot about my shop."

Thank you, Officer Bowen!

You have greatly impacted our lives and the everyday decisions we make. As your first D.A.R.E. graduates, we will always remember the ways you have changed our lives. Thank you for your great awareness, care, dedication, patience, trust and, most of all, the friendship offered to every one of us!

Sincerely,
The Class of 2002

Officer James J. Bowen
D.A.R.E. Officer/Instructor

To My First D.A.R.E. Graduates,

I cannot believe how fast time goes by. It seems like just yesterday when I walked into your classroom and you were little kids. Now you have grown up to be beautiful young ladies and handsome young men. Seniors at Weymouth High School, soon to go on to college or the work place. I am convinced that you are all true leaders to your peers, your community, and our world. Strive for your highest goal and never give up. Be confident and proud of who you are, since there is only one of you in the whole world. Remember all that you have learned in D.A.R.E.. Remember the promise you made to yourself, your family, your school, your community, and to me, that you would remain drug-free and resist violence. I hope that you have all kept your promise, and if you haven't, it is time to change your ways and stop, or seek help, as you know in your heart there are no true benefits to using tobacco, alcohol or other drugs, only downfalls. You're much smarter than that.

Also never forget the word "RESPECT", as it will guide you for the rest of your life. Treat others the way you would like to be treated. If you respect yourself and your body, drugs will never be a part of your life, and if you are drug-free, others will respect you in return. Please don't be a victim of drugs, you are all very important people to your family, your community, and especially to ME !

I wish you all a very happy, healthy, drug-free, and productive future. I am extremely PROUD of each and every one of you ! You inspire me !
You have made a great and lasting impression on me.
I will NEVER forget you !

Best of luck WHS/VTHS Class of 2002 !
All of my love and best wishes,
Your friend forever,

Officer Bowen

My friend, tell me, what is the world?

Is it, as scientific minds assert, a gear-and-cog assembly, custom-fit to click its steady machination through the years? Or did it come, as miracles are thought to arrive, out of a dream-like haze? Could it be both, or none of these? Could it be wrought from all the stuff of writers' wordy kits? And who's to say the world is not a song, one sung as hymns, in simple reverence of untold ways? Or like a lily, not long removed from its dew-drenched valley bed, whence came seed, to spurting growth up from the loam, like shoots, or songs, or haze, or clocks:

a home?

"To laugh often and much; to win the respect of intelligent people and the affection of children; to earn the appreciation of honest critics and endure the betrayal of false friends; to appreciate beauty, to find the best in others; to leave the world a little better, whether by a healthy child, a garden patch or a redeemed social condition; to know even one life has breathed easier because you have lived. This is the meaning of success."

Casie Madden

Casie,

Your Dad and I want to remind you of a simpler time in your life. (Can't get much simpler than this!)

When you go off to college in the fall, no matter how hectic your life becomes, your family will always be here for you. Your sisters, Kerri and Jessica, your Mom and Dad, will carry you through your future, in our hearts and in our thoughts.

All the love there is,

Mom

Caitlin,

"Seize the day. Make your life extraordinary."

We are very proud of you!

Love,

Mom & Dad

We've watched you grow from an independent toddler with definite opinions into a wonderful young lady. You've worked very hard along that road and we're so proud of you! You've also chosen to surround yourself with terrific friends ("The Crew") who've helped you through the bumps in that road.

We love you very much,

Mom, Ricky & Craig

Megan Mates

Seany,

We are so very proud of the wonderful person that you are! You have always been so happy and full of life. We feel blessed to be your parents. Congratulations and God bless!
